

Marchants Hill

A low-angle shot looking up at a large wooden rock climbing wall. Two people are visible climbing higher up the wall. In the foreground, the back of a person wearing a red helmet and a white shirt is visible. Another red helmet is partially visible to the right. A blue t-shirt with a yellow 'PGL' logo is seen at the bottom. The sky is clear blue, and some green trees are on the left.

A new Highworth tradition

Why Marchants Hill in September?

- Relationships for effective learning

Why Marchants Hill?

- Maximum participation
- Cheaper: weekend; fewer nights
- Less impact on regular commitments

Why Marchants Hill?

- PGL

- Range of activities
- Safe and professional
- Food

Why Marchants Hill?

- Closer to home
 - Less time travelling, more time doing
 - Reduced coach cost

Why Marchants Hill?

- PGL all weekend!
- Or CGL

What's it all about?

- Team building
- Important qualities (resilience, courage, patience, perseverance etc.)
- Life skills – independence, organisation, friendships
- Outdoor learning
- Well-rounded young people
- Most of all...FUN!

PGL

What can we do?

ZIPWIRE

ORIENTEERING

TRAPEZE

GIANT SWING

RAFT BUILDING

JACOB'S LADDER

CLIMBING

FENCING

ARCHERY

QUAD BIKING

A low-angle shot looking up at a large wooden climbing wall. Several people are visible climbing at different heights. In the foreground, the back of a person wearing a blue t-shirt with the 'PGL' logo and a red helmet is visible. To the left, another person in a white shirt and red helmet is partially seen. The sky is clear blue, and some green foliage is visible on the left side.

What is it like?

Don't just take it from us! Let's look at what parents and children say about PGL...

A low-angle shot looking up at a large wooden climbing wall. Several people are visible at different heights on the wall. In the foreground, the back of a person wearing a blue t-shirt with the 'PGL' logo and a red helmet is visible. To their left, another person in a white shirt and red helmet is partially seen. The sky is clear blue, and some green foliage is visible on the left side.

What is it like?

Here are some snapshots from last year to show you...

Key Information

Friday 28th September – Sunday
30th September 2018

Returning Sunday evening after dinner

A low-angle shot of a wooden climbing wall against a clear blue sky. Several people are visible climbing. In the foreground, the back of a person wearing a red helmet and a white shirt is visible. Another person in a blue shirt with a 'PGL' logo is also visible. The climbing wall is made of light-colored wood and has various colored climbing holds (red, blue, black).

To sum up...

- Amazing experience
- Lifelong memories
- Letter and deposit to be returned by 16th March please!